SCHOOL BUS WRECKED; WEBB IS DRIVER

NINE STUDENTS' LIVES ENDANGERED IN CRASH WITH 'VELVET PILOT'

Need To Oust Teacher Drivers Emphasized By Near Disaster

What apparently was only Providence alone prevented nine Washington Union high school students from meeting death or serious injury Friday morning when the school bus driven by Barton L. Webb was wrecked and practically demolished on Railroad avenue near Newark.

For the past two months the Register has been calling on the two teacher-bus drivers to give up their driving positions or that the high school board of trustees should remove them and give the busses to those who are desperately in need of work. It has often been proven that one person cannot successfully fulfill two positions and the lives of the pupils are too precious to trust to individuals whose minds are occupied with, or tired from other tasks.

Friday's accident, which is convincing testimony to the above mentioned fact, occurred when Webb's bus collided with an automobile driven by Manuel Brazil, of Centerville. The bus turned

TWO ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY OF NILES HOME

Charged with burglarizing the home of Manuel Leonis in Niles during the latter part of July, Estebar Orta and Jesus Rodarte, both of Niles, will face arraignment before Judge J. A. Silva in the Niles justice court this afternoon (Thursday).

Orta was arrested Monday night by Constable O. W. Ebright, while Rodarde was taken in to custody Thursday, October 13.

The Leonis home was entered July 28 and ten gallons of wine, an automatic pistol, two Spanish blankets, and a phonograph stolen.

The burglars who entered through a window left finger-prints on a chair which finally led to the arrest of Rodarte and Orta. The Niles officer compared the finger prints of Rodarte, who was under suspicion for the theft, with those left on the chair and found them to be identical. When Rodarte, who had left Niles for a time, returned and was confronted with this evidence, he is said to have confessed the burglary to Constable Ebright and also implicated Orta.

Both men are being held in the county jail.

DRIVE FOR SCOUT FUND OPENS WITH MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Goal of $700 Accepted By Scouters at Centerville Meet

Thirty Scouters of Washington township Monday night accepted the $700 budget goal set by their district committee headed by J. E. Townsend, chairman, and enthusiastically pledged their efforts to not only raise the 1932 budget quota, but go over the top and get a start on the 1933 funds.

The meeting Monday evening in Judge Allen G. Norris' court room in Centerville, was the largest assembly of Scouting Campaigners ever held in the Washington township, acording to Dr. G. S. Holeman, general chairman of the 1932 campaign fund.

Representatives of Niles, Centerville Newark, Irvington, and Decoto were present and began making contacts Tuesday in an effort to bring the campaign to a close Friday night.

Among the thirty Scouters present at the Monday evening "kick-off" meeting were: F. V. Jones, Niles campaign chairman, and

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

Stubborness of Trustees Lead to Disaster

The picture directly above this editorial gives one a shudder. Nine children escaped death and serious injury by an act of Providence when the schoo' bus, driven by a two-job man, hit a Ford car on an intersection and turned over, completely wrecking both cars. Whose fault it was is immaterial. A good driver never assumes that an approaching car is bound to live up to all the regulations of the highways but is ever alert to avoid disaster by the assumption that one can never be sure what the other driver may do. Of course the school authorities exhonorated Webb, but the writer, upon first-hand investigation, finds that the mishap would never have occurred if Teacher Webb had been as careful as his grave responsibilities demanded.

We do not wish nor is it our intention to gloat over a matter so serious, although in truth the day before this happened we warned the board of trustees that no man could hold down two positions and do either one justice. We have pleaded with the principal, as with the trustees, to recognize the serious unemployment situation and take Webb and Kibby off the busses and give the places to worthy men with families to support, who, under the stress of the times, hardly know where their next meal is coming from. Toward all this they have maintained a stubborn and heartless attitude. Both Webb and Kibby have clung to their two jobs like a Shylock to his silver coins. The voice of humanity neither reaches them nor their superiors. They are out for all they can get, and if they take bread out of the mouths of little ones, damned if they care.

Just today a man with three children came into our office requesting our assistance in an effort to secure one of the school bus driving jobs. Of course it was ridiculous to ask us to intercede with the school board. The writer is anathema to those men and the grasping faculty who would sit snugly on two jobs and let their fellows go hungry. We told him as much. But never mind about that. The man was a good American, clean, worthy. He has lived in Washington township for eight years. Never before has he been in stranded circumstances. It just so happens that he is an automobile mechanic as well as an expert driver. He has judgment, and a good record. He told us in a faltering voice, that his children have not had sufficient food for weeks, and unless he received something to do at once, he must lose his self respect and ask for charity.

There you are, gentlemen. What do you think of yourselves—the whole, selfish, grasping lot of you? You ought to hang your heads in shame—but shame, evidently, is not in your make-up, and the voice of humanity, in dire anguish, falls upon ears made deaf by avariciousness.

Everybody Cheer

IF WE GET our cue right, we should shout ourself hoarse in praise of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that dropped $62,000,000 into the lap of Oakland and San Francisco. The mammouth bridge connecting these two cities is now assured, and will be built with money "lent" by the United States government.

That is as far as our consistency runs along the lines of economy. The money in the hands of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been appropriated to relieve distress and save the credit of the states and the nation. If this section of the state can get a hunk of this money, why not? It will be spent somewhere and in some way, for, indeed, did one ever know of public money appropriated that was not gotten rid

BELOVED NILES WOMAN KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

Well-known Social Worker Meets Tragic Death In Automobile

Niles and surrounding community was shocked and saddened Thursday of last week at the news that Miss Martha Lewis Sanford was instantly killed when a Southern Pacific freight train struck her automobile on a crossing on the J. C. Shinn ranch near Niles.

Miss Sanford apparently became confused with the gear shift on her new car she was driving and the engine stalled on the tracks, according to reports from A. P. DeBock, engineer, and several itinerants riding on the train.

(Contributed by a friend)

Beside Miss Sanford when she went, was the little brown basket, her constant companion and badge of service through many years.

On Sunday, when she would have been leading her Sunday School little ones in the paths of truth and beauty, a fitting and beautiful memorial service was held for her in the Congregational church at Niles, conducted by the Reverend Elmer Brinkmeyer, pastor. Children of the school sang sweetly, a song she had taught them: "Jesus loves me, this I know, For the sunshine tells me so."

On Monday at two o'clock, committment services of the Episcopal church were read at the Mountain View chapel in Oakland, by the Reverend W. J. Attwood. Her ashes will rest beside those of her parents and brother in Mountain View cemetery.

Martha Lewis Sanford was born

Niles Man Arrested As Alleged Killer

Drunken Quarrel Results In Shooting of Santa Clara Resident

Said to have shot and killed Ramonda Rodrigues at Rodrigues' home in Santa Clara Sunday night, Florentina Pacheco, of Niles, was arrested at Niles Monday morning.

A report card from the Niles grammar school, found at the scene of the killing led to Pacheco's arrest. He is said to have confessed the shooting to Constable Ebright. The man was arrested at the home of Manuel Leonis in Niles.

Constable O. W. Ebright turned the prisoner over to Santa Clara county officials. The man offered no resistance when taken into custody. He had a badly discolored eye, said to have been received in the alleged fight with the dead man.

According to reports, Pacheco was attending a birthday party at Rodrigues' home when he became involved in a quarrel. He is alleged to have shot Rodrigues thorugh the heart with a twenty-two calibre rifle, killing him instantly.

Pacheco has been a resident of Niles for several years. He is a married man with several children.

MAN FEELS WOMAN'S WRATH; JUDGMENT IS SUSPENDED

Testimony to the veracity of Poet Kipling's illuminating observance that "the female of the species is more deadly than the male" was afforded in a battery case trial in the Niles justice court Friday afternoon.

Evidence introduced in the case in which John and Mary Machado were charged with committing battery on John G. Silva also revealed that a stick of wood in an angry woman's hands can be an effective weapon in protection of her name.

Mrs. Machado testified that when Silva appeared at her home near Centerville to collect a sum said to have been due him, he made derogatory remarks concerning her character. She said she promptly slapped his face and seized a stick of wood to vent her indignation on Silva, who escaped with a badly discolored eye to file the battery charge against both Machados.

There was no evidence to show that John Machado had struck the complainant, and he was found not guilty by Judge J. A. Silva. Mary Machado was found guilty. Judgment was suspended.

Anne Kling and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Swainson were visitors in San Francisco Sunday.

DAZZLING SPEED BALL IS DOWNFALL OF LEGION NINE

Jess Regli Pitches Centerville Lions to 11-9 Victory

Speed and more speed!

That's what big Jess Regli dished out to members of the Washington township American Legion baseball nine in the clash between the legionnaires and the Centerville Lions Club for township honors at Irvington Sunday morning.

Chiefly as the result of the high school athletic coach's sizzling slants, the legion tossers came home on the short end of 11 to 9 count and the Centerville den boasts of the township ball title.

Three backstops received Regli's offerings before the seventh inning contest was over. Ira Hodgkins performed behind the plate for the first two innings but gave way to Jack Williamson who in turn turned over the duties to A. J. Rathbone. Williamson's hand was swollen to twice its normal size Monday morning as the result of two innings of stopping Regli's scorching smoke balls.

Sixteen strikeouts were chalked up by the Centerville pitcher The legion stickers smote the ozone in vain as Regli burned the horsehide past them.

E. D. Bristow pitched a nice brand of ball for the legion nine.

For the Centerville den, Regli topped hitting honors, poling out a three-bagger and two singles in four trips to the platter, while Rathbone hit safely three out of three.

"Skip" Edinger, hard hitting shortstop for the legion, was struck on the head with one of Regli's fast ones in the fourth canto and was knocked unconscious. He gamely returned to finish the contest, however.

Line-up for the two teams was:

Lions: McDonald, short stop; Williamson, second base and catcher; Norris, right field; Regli, pitcher; De Leon, first; Hodgkins, catcher and third; McKinsy, center field, Rathbone, catcher and second base; Lauppe, left field.

Legion: Dale, center field; Peacock, right field; Edinger, short stop; Smith, catcher; Bettencourt, third; Alves, second; May, first; J. Vieux, left field; Bristow, pitcher.

BOY SCOUT WORK SEEN AS BUILDER OF MORAL VALUES

Need of Spiritual Teaching Is Stressed In Report Issued

That we are financially able to provide recreation and character-building programs in times like these when funds are needed to feed the hungry was the decision reached recently at a convention of th National Social work council held in Philadelphia according to J. E. Townsend chairman of the Washingtn township Boy Scouts, who received a copy of the report.

In part, the report follows: 'Few communities have reached the point where some of the popplation must be saved from starvation by denying children and adults their leisure time privileges. Our land of 'too much goods' is not so bankrupt that it cannot do more than relief on a famine basis. The demands for emergency relief are not so great that we must abandon all provisions for health, education and the recreation and character building programs.

Never has there been a time when clear thinking in respect to real needs and relative values was more needed than today.

"Rather than take a moratorium on the moral and spiritual growth of children, let us accept emergency relief as a temporary addition to our regular community responsibilities—not as a substitute for permanent services. This we must do until we are willing to agree that America must recognize life on a bread alone basis. The need of a starving body and a broken spirit are not mutually exclusive obligations of society; both must compel the attention of the socially-minded citizens."

"Is it true that the character-building agencies are preventing crime?" is another point discussed in this report.

"There is ample, positive testimony of hundreds of judges, probation officers and superintendents of state industrial schools, who have witnessed the reduction of delinquency and the transformation of lawless gangs through a properly organized recreation program in the local community.

"Certain it is that when they are happily engaged in wholesome recreation under competent leadership they are not indulging in anti-special activities. The hey-day of racketeering is the wrong time to withdraw the constructive influences that restrain youth from getting mixed up in juvenile delinquencies.

"If it is necessary to have these influences operating in the lives of young people in the days of prosperity, it is all the more essential in periods of enforced idleness when legitimate means of earning money are scarce and illegal opportunities are multiplied.

Public Speakers Progress Fast in Pleasanton

Class Applies Psychology to its Study of Effective Speech Making

Campaign speeches, sales talks, agricultural ideas, and scientific explanations were the topics discussed at the meeting of the public speaking class last Tuesday eve at the Amador Valley high school, according to E. O. McCormick, instructor.

The knowledge of modern psychology, or why we act as we do, forms the foundation for the progress of this class. Speeches are progressing through the organization of outline to include the use of the primary interests of man. The use of these appeals in speech give the business man, the salesman, and the club leader a force which is most satisfying.

Andy Jorgensen, Mrs. Harmon Nelson, John Busch, and Robert Dana gave interesting speeches last week.

WARNING!

VOTE "NO", November 8th, 1932, on Proposition No. 3—an initiative measure entitled "Foreclosure of Mortgages and Trust Deeds." It is a selfish, dangerous measure. Don't be deceived as to its real purpose and effect. It is against the best interests of California home owners.

1. It will increase foreclosure costs by compelling a court action in every case.
2. It can be made the tool of injustice by allowing a borrower in default to be evicted in fifteen days if he does not pay rent.
3. The measure makes deficiency judgments automatic.
4. The measure imperils existing loans, by making renewals more difficult.
5. It will compel home purchasers to make a much larger down payment.
6. It will decrease the loan value of California property, making borrowing both difficult and expensive.
7. It will delay building activity, and further aggravate unemployment.
8. It will make the sale of real estate more difficult.
9. It will increase taxes.
10. It will benefit no one except those who profit by the fees from litigation.

BOY SCOUT EXECUTIVE EXPLAINS ORGANIZATION TO NILES CIVIC GROUP

Drive To Raise Fund For Scouts Begins in Washington Township

Organization of the Boy Scout program was explained to the Niles Chamber of Commerce at their meeting Monday by Howard Bemis, executive secretary of the Oakland Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

This council to which Washington township belongs, is part of a national program of scouting, Bemis told the gathering. Each scout troop has a representative on the council, which plans and directs the scouting activities in the area, he said.

Although scout work is largely done by volunteer service, it is necessary to employ a small staff of professional help to set up the program and assist in carrying it out, according to the speaker. The expenses of this group and other operating expenses comes out of the fund raised each year in the varius districts of the council.

This year's budget for the Oakland Area Council is $3800, of which $1500 is San Leandro's share and $1300 is Hayward's, Bemis stated. The quota for Washington township is $700 this year. The campaign to raise this fund in the township began Tuesday.

The scout secretary praised the manner in which Niles and Decoto have met the quota in the past and expressed hope the communities would repeat this year.

According to Bemis the deficits in the budget incurred during recent years, has been paid by the Oakland Council, but this year the fund will have to be raised in the communities participating in the scout program. It has been a real struggle to keep up the work in 1932, he explained, in stressing the necessity for each community meeting its quota of the budget.

The speaker highly praised the scouting work being carried on in Washington township and pointed out the advantages of the township troops being headed by young men who have graduated from scout work and were rich in scouting experience.

An invitation for members of the chamber to attend the gathering in Oakland Friday night at which Everett Medenhall, of Niles, will receive his Eagle badge was extended by Bemis.

J. E. Townsend, of Niles, prominent leader of scouting activity in Washington township and chairman of the township scout committee, spoke briefly at Monday's meeting, praising the scout work being done in Niles.

Irving P. Beesley, southern Alameda county field executive, also was present at the meeting.

President F. V. Jones explained to the civic body that a new campaign plan to raise the necessary scout fund will be used this year. Instead of contacting only the merchants and business men, solicitors will conduct a house to house campaign and attempt to contact everyone in the township.

On a motion by E. F. Glassbrook, President Jones appointed a committee to investigate the situation brought before the chamber by George E. Sheldon at last week's meeting concerning the proposal to get more state highway mileage for Alameda county. The committee will hold its investigation and present a report to the chamber.

Those appointed on the committee were Robert Blacow, Harvey Braun, E. A. Ellsworth, Lester Duffey and W. B. Kirk.

George Bonde was appointed committee chairman to arrange for next week's meeting.

Amador Hallowe'en Dance Bids Are Out

Invitations to the junior class Hallowe'en dance, to be given at the Amador Valley Joint Union high school Friday evening, October 28, were sent out last week, according to Anna Ruth Hanifen, class president.

The dance is to be an invitational affair with a small admission charge. The purpose of the invitation is to do away with the public dance idea and to make the affair more of a social party, rather than a public dance.

Students and their parents and the alumni and their escorts will be admitted without an invitation.

The invitation must be presented at the door with the name of the invited guest on it. The invitation must also be signed by the student sending it.

Those working on committees for the dance are as follows:

First Hoop Contest Is Won By Forfeit

LA VON MOLTER IS BRIDE IN BEAUTIFUL C. NTERVILLE RITES

Large Group of Friends Present at Popular Girl's Wedding

Tall candelaba, attractively banked against ferns which were blended with yellow and rust chrystanthemums, formed a beautiful setting when Miss La Von Molter, popular Centerville girl, became the bride of Elmer Sorenson, of Hayward, at four o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Over two hundred relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony which was held in the Presbyterian church at Centerville. Reverend James L. McElhinney performed the wedding rites.

The bride was charming in white chiffon velvet of princess mode and she wore a white velvet turban and carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley and gardenias. Miss Jewell Anderson, as maid of honor, was beautiful in a wine colored gown with turban to match and carrying a bouquet of pale yellow roses. The groom and Joseph Kavanaugh, of Hayward, best man, were becomingly attired in dark.

Miss Molter was given in marriage by her uncle, W. A. Millet.

Following the wedding reception held at the bride's home, the happy couple left on a honeymoon to be spent in the southern part of the state. They will return to make their home in Hayward, where the groom is in business.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William LaCome, of Centerville, is popular and has many friends among the younger set of Washington township. FAST FARMER TEAM BEATS WASHINGTON IN FIRST LEAGUE GO

Farmers Pile Up Thirty-two to 0 Score at Centerville

Displaying a smooth running attack that was not to be denied, Hayward high school administered a 32 to 0 beating to Coach Jess Regli's Washington Union high school football team Friday afternoon at Centerville. It was the opening game in the southern Alameda county league for both teams.

The Farmers had a little advantage in weight over the Cornhuskers. The Centerville boys seemed baffled by Hayward's reverse plays which netted long gains.

Washington's offense was unable to penetrate the Hayward defense with any consistency and the Cornhuskers never got beyond the Farmer's twenty-five yard line. The Hayward line broke through repeatedly to smear the Cornhuskers for losses. When the Cornhuskers tried the air the passer usually was rushed so that he was unable to locate a receiver with any accuracy.

Captain Jim Booras at center for Washington turned in a good game on the defense. George Geib at full back made the most yardage for the Cornhuskers and was consistent in his punting, getting off some good boots throughout the contest.

Hayward scored first at the opening of the second quarter after a march down the field in which several first downs were registered. A place kick for the extra point was good. The Farmers crossed into scoring turf again during the same quarter after two long runs and several line smashes paved the way for a touchdown. Attempt at conversion was again successful.

Shortly after the second half began, Hayward tallied their third touchdown on several long runs. The kick for goal failed.

Swearingen, speedy Hayward half back, turned in the most sparkling play of the game during the third quarter. After Washington was forced to boot the two Cornhusker ends were down to ground the ball. Both had their hands on it but it eluded them and bounced toward the Hayward safety man who captured it and was away down the sidelines for a sixty yard jaunt to score. Try for extra point failed.

The final Hayward touchdown came in the fourth period when the Farmers took the ball on a punt and after three long gallops crossed the goal line. Attempt to convert was unsuccessful.

Coach Regli will take his Cornhuskers to Pleasanton tomorrow afternoon (Friday) where they will tangle with the Amador high school eleven. Pleasanton has an impressive record so far this season, and tomorrow's contest is expected to be a real battle. Washington won by a 6 to 0 count last year and the Amadorites are out for revenge. Coach Regli, however, is prepared to have his proteges turn in their first league win at Amador's expense.

Starting line-up last Friday was Booras, center; Sinclair and Mederios, guards; Ikeda and Vargas, tackles; Silva and Rivers, ends; Rose and Ramos, halves; Geib, full; and Raso, quarterback.

Spaghetti Imperial—Heat one-fourth cup salad oil in a saucepan. Add two medium-size chopped onions and two tablespoons chopped green peppers. Cook until half tender. Then add one pint canned tomatoes, one teaspoon salt, and one and a half lumps of sugar. Cook slowly until the onions and peppers are done, and the sauce is reduced by about one-third. Have ready one-half pound cooked spaghetti. The spaghetti is cooked by dropping it in rapidly boiling, salted water and cooking until tender. Place the spaghetti in a heated dish. Pour the sauce over it, and grate over the top, two ounces of Parmesan cheese.

Editorial Comment

NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

of mighty quick? Not that we have ever read about.

The bay bridge will be a mighty fine thing to have, but is it necessary? Not exactly necessary one will have to admit. The ferries are doing the job very well, and more cheaply than a toll bridge. Of course, if there will be no tolls on this proposed bridge, then there is no excuse in the world for the state to build it simply for the convenience and financial profit of these two municipalities.

But the main thing is to get the money. Preach economy elsewhere, but never at home. That will brand you as an obstructionist, disloyal to your own institutions.

The pork barrel is still with us in spite of our precarious financial condition, and he who opposes it still jeopardizes his very political life. It is part of our democratic institutions, though we do not dispair of democracy.

After all, we are still inclined to believe that it is better to be poorly governed by representative government than wisely and economically governed by the methods of kings and emperors.

The Ghost of Nepotism

The bungling of the Washington Union high school board will cost the district three thousand dollars or more. Not a dollar insurance on the bus. A total loss, all because the board has allowed the principal to run the school in the interest of the faculty's closed and air-tight corporation. Want all the funds to trickle into their own coffers, and not a cent to anyone else, no matter how worthy. The whole mess is disgusting. It reeks of inefficiency, and out of respect for the community, the whole outfit should resign. If the recall could be invoked they would be yanked out of office unceremoniously by the people of this district who have had enough of mismanagement, the wasting of public funds and the spirit of nepotism that stalks like a ghost through the faculty ranks at Centerville.

Gravel Pit Claimed No Threat to Water Table

In reply to a letter sent by the general manager of Alameda County Water District to Pacific Coast Aggregates, Inc., the following letter was received:

The letter refers particularly to the protection of the subterranean waters in the area above the Niles-Irvington fault, and lead to an assurance that this water table will not be lowered by reason of operations of the gravel company.)

September 19, 1932

Mr. Cyril Williams, Jr.,
369 Pine Street,
San Francisco, Calif.
Dear Sir:

I have your letter of September 18, 1932, together with sketch showing water levels in Alameda creek as of September 18, 1932.

When on the ground with you on Saturday, September 17, I pointed out that we did not intend to go farther west than the point where we are now excavating, our intention being to confine our operations from that point upstream. My understanding at that time was that this met with your approval.

Please advise if you can see any reason why we should not continue these operations in the manner we indicated on September 17. We are desirous of cooperating with you in every respect in our work at Niles and will be glad to hear from you any time that you think we are endangering the fault line.

Yours very truly,

ANNUAL BENEFIT HARVEST FETE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Toyon Branch Looking Forward to Large Attendance

After weeks of busy preparation the annual harvest festival given by the Toyon Branch of the Children's Hospital will open Saturday morning at the old adobe on the California Nursery Company grounds at Niles. It will continue on Sunday.

Members of the organization have spared no effort to make this year's affair a great success, and are hoping for a large crowd on the two days it will be held.

A large amount of fruits, vegetables, and other articles has been gathered and prepared for sale at the festival. The fruits and vegetables are especially attractive after being treated to a shellacking process which gives them a glowing lustre and also keeps them well preserved.

It has been pointed out by Mrs. J. R. Whipple, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, that all the money taken in during the sale will go toward a worthy cause. The proceeds goes into the fund used for the benefit of crippled children in the east bay area.

Announcement of the festival was made over radio station KTAB last Saturday night, when Ralph Stevens, Oakland manager of that station dedicated the regular Saturday night Sideshow to the children in the hospital and to the ladies of the Toyon branch. The broadcast was made possible through the efforts of the Register staff.

Pupils of the Decoto and Niles grammar schools will present brief plays at the festival. Tea, wafers and other refreshments will be served in the old adobe to the visitors. It is planned to have a pony on hand for the use of children who attend the affair with their parents.

A large throng of visitors is expected to attend from Oakland and other east bay cities. The old adobe is of considerable interest, being one of the oldest buildings in southern Alameda county, and undoubtedly will be a source of much attraction. It still is in a fine state of preservation.

Several organizations from the Oakland branches of the Childrens Hospital have signified their intention of sending representatives and assisting in the festival.

JOSEPH GEORGE FUNERAL HELD IN PLEASANTON

Joseph George, Jr., a well-known and liked farmer, of Pleasanton, passed away at his home last Wednesday following a brief illness of double pneunia.

George was born and raised in Mission San Jose, later moving to Tassajara, where he was engaged in the farming and hay-bailing business for about twenty years. He has lived in Pleasanton for nine years.

in Oakland, September 30, 1861. She grew to young womanhood there, graduating from the Oakland high school, and later completing a course with the first group to be trained for kindergarten work on the Pacific coast. This school was organized and conducted by Kate Douglas Wiggin and throughout the years, Miss Sanford was in friendly touch with her and her sister, Nora Smith. Miss Sanford, like her teacher, was a 'sharing sort of persn.'

When her brother became president of Clark College, in Worchester, Massachussetts, she and her mother went there to make a home for him. During the following years she devoted herself to her invalid mother and to the service of St. Mark's Episcopal church. After her dear ones were gone, she came to make her home in Niles, seven years ago, with her cousin, Dr. Millicent Shinn. During her life she has filled every office and position of trust in the churches with which she was affiliated, and has given herself unsparingly, without rest or thought of praise or reward, in deeds of charity and love. She was so modest that praise distressed her, though her eyes lighted with joy from any expressions of interest and cooperation in the work she was doing.

Martha Sanford came from staunch New England stock and was reared in the dignity, the decent restraints and discipline, the fine courage and integrity, and in the gentle manners of that tradition. Religion, in that household, was not a garment put on for special occasions, but was the very foundation and structure of every day living. So she lived 'remembering each day to keep it holy,' and 'loving her neighbor more than herself'. Her neighbor was anyone, far or near, who needed her.

No near relatives survive Miss Sanford. Dr. Shinn, J. C. Shinn, of Niles, Mrs. Emma W. Percy, Mrs Isabel T. Harmon, Mrs. Harriet McMurray, and Mildred Hawes Beatty, of Oakland, are the nearest kin.

She was a Mary Martha person, who sat humbly at Jesus' feet, having chosen the one thing needful. With her heart filled with love and pity she went out joyously, to feed the hungry, visit the sick, clothe the naked, and to bear in her tender heart, the sorrows of the broken hearted. Exacting for herself, she was patient and forgiving and charitable toward the foolishness and shortcomings of others. Her memory will be cherished in the hearts of those she blessed and there she is canonized.

These words of Lowell paint a true picture, though no words are adequate to paint a complete one.

She is a woman: one in whom
The spring-time of her childish years
Hath never lost its fresh perfume,
Though knowing well that life hath room
For many blights and many tears.
She doeth little kindnesses,
Which most leave undone, or despise;
For naught that sets one heart at ease,
And giveth happiness or peace,
Is low-esteemed in her eyes.
She hath no scorn of common things,
And, though she seem of their birth,
Round us her heart entwines and clings,
And patiently she folds her wings
To tread the humble paths of earth
Blessing she is: God made her so,
And deeds of week-day holiness
Fall from her noiseless as the snow,
Nor hath she ever chanced to know
That naught were easier than to bless.

OUTWARD WHIRLPOOL LATEST SEA ODDITY

Many Mysteries of Ocean Are Still Unexplained.

Washington.—Discovery of an outward spinning whirlpool in the Atlantic ocean is reported by a vessel of the coast geodetic survey. While charting the Georges banks, 150 miles east of Cape Cod, the survey vessel Hydrographer encountered the strange whirlpool, which was strong enough to throw the vessel off its course. The cause of the phenomenon is unknown, but further investigation will be made. It differs from other whirlpools known to navigators in that it spins outward instead of toward its center.

Constantly Playing Tricks.

"An outward spinning whirlpool is another oddity added to the long list of unexplained mysteries of the sea," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "It is half in jest and half in awe that old tars refer to the bounding main as 'that old devil sea.' In olden days the sea was believed to be peopled with strange monsters which devoured both ships and men. Even today, with all the safeguards and comforts of modern travel, a ship voyage is not without its hazards. Mother Ocean constantly plays new and unexpected tricks because man's knowledge of the sea, for all his centuries of study and experience, is extremely meager.

"Explorers and geographers who have been sighing for new lands to conquer may find their best field, paradoxically, in the sea. When it is realized that nearly three-quarters of the surface of the globe consists of water, it is rather remarkable how little we know of the vast surface of the solid sphere which lies under this screen of liquid.

"Little wonder, then that man marvels at how much has been learned about the seas, the while he realizes that what he knows is much less than the proverbial drop in the bucket as compared with what remains a mystery.

"The most impressive thing about the sea is its shallowness as compared with the size of the earth, and its depth as compared with the height of the land. If one were to take a globe six feet in diameter and excavate the deepest trench of the ocean thereon, it would be a bare pin-scratch deep—about one twentieth of an inch.

Storm's "Advance Agents."

"Among the sea's unexplained mysteries are the origin and actions of storm waves, commonest of nautical phenomena. Often storm waves travel much faster than the storm itself, meaning the storm as a whole, and sometimes they break with great force on a short-line where conditions otherwise are very quiet and serene.

"There is a curious superstition, varying in various parts of the world, that every seventh, or every ninth, or every tenth wave is larger than the ones that precede it. Writers often take advantage of this belief, not supported by scientists, to illustrate different periods of sequences in ideas or lives.

"Much is still to be learned about the vagaries of ocean currents. Vessels and debris caught in these natural sea lanes often play uncanny tricks."

POTATO ADVICE

IN ALL but the smallest families it is usually worth while to buy potatoes by the bushel basket instead of a few pounds at a time. They should be kept in a light, well ventilated place, preferably in a bin of a metal vegetable rack. Lacking one of these useful contraptions it is a good plan to have a low bench of some sort on which to keep baskets of vegetables so that they will not rest on the floor.

It is a good plan to sort over the potatoes to start with, as this saves a good deal of time in poking through for those of even sizes for baking. If the potatoes are lifted one by one into the vegetable rack a good deal of the dust will be eliminated, but on no account should the potatoes be washed until just before they are to be used.

A good plan is to make one pile of potatoes too large for baking, of which there are usually a few in the basket. These may be used when the potatoes are to be pared before cooking. Save out others that are firm, smooth and of good size to use for baking. A collection of very small round potatoes may be made to use when they are to be served whole with a cream sauce or with parsley butter and another collection of uneven, medium-sized potatoes may be made for use when potatoes are to be served mashed, riced, scalloped or fried.

You may find it convenient to put the potatoes of special sizes in brown paper bags in the bin where you can get at them without last-minute sorting.

MORE ON SCHOOL BUS

completely over and was practically demolished, and it was only a miracle that the occupants received only the injuries which they did.

The students were Mabel and Kathleen Evulich, Elaine Boice, Bernice Weber, Billy Katser, Ray Oliveria, Sophia Renoaldo and Violet Ornellis. Bruises of the right side and hip were sustained by the Renoaldo girl, and the Ornellis girl suffered a severely sprained neck. Webb received a badly bruised leg, while Brazil suffered lacerations.

There was no insurance covering the damage to the bus. It will cost approximately $3000 to replace it, and the school district will have to bear this burden as the result of incompetent driving by a two-job man.

Although a committee investigating the crash absolved Webb from blame, this was to be expected and should not be given too much credence by those interested in the welfare of Washington township and its people. The important fact is that nine pupils narrowly escapted death as the result of a bus accident, in which negligence, either from over-work or sleepiness was responsible for the near disaster.

How much longer the board of trustees will continue endangering the lives of children of the township is difficult to estimate. The accident Friday should have been a lesson to them. It is deplorable enough to play favorities without jeopardizing the safety of the pupils. Their parents certainly are worthy of a little consideration in a case of this kind, and both they and their children should not be made to suffer for the persistent stubborness of our high school principal and the board of trustees.
